"Section 2. Section 75-1-403 is amended to read:
75-1-403. Pleadings -- When parties bound by others -- Notice.
In formal proceedings involving intervivos or testamentary trusts or estates of decedents, minors, protected persons, or incapacitated persons, and in judicially supervised settlements, the following apply:
(1) Interests to be affected shall be described in pleadings which give reasonable information to owners by name or class, by reference to the instrument creating the interests, or in other appropriate manner.
(2) Persons are bound by orders binding others in the following cases:
(a) Orders binding the sole holder or all co-holders of a power of revocation or a presently-exercisable general power of appointment, including one in the form of a power of amendment, bind other persons to the extent their interests (as objects, takers in default, or otherwise) are subject to the power.
(b) To the extent there is no conflict of interest between them or among persons represented, orders binding a conservator bind the person whose estate he controls; orders binding a guardian bind the ward if no conservator of his estate has been appointed; orders binding a trustee bind beneficiaries of the trust in proceedings to probate a will establishing or adding to a trust, to review the acts or accounts of a prior fiduciary and in proceedings involving creditors or other third parties; and orders binding a personal representative bind persons interested in the undistributed assets of a decedent's estate in actions or proceedings by or against the estate. If there is no conflict of interest and no conservator or guardian has been appointed, a parent may represent his minor child.

(c) An unborn or unascertained person who is not otherwise represented is bound by an order to the extent his interest is adequately represented by another party having a substantially identical interest in the proceeding.

(3) Notice is required as follows:

(a) Notice as prescribed by Section 75-1-401 shall be given to every interested person or to one who can bind an interested person as described in Subsection (2)(a) or (2)(b). Notice may be given both to a person and to another who may bind him.

(b) Notice is given to unborn or unascertained persons, who are not represented under Subsection (2)(a) or (2)(b), by giving notice to all known persons whose interests in the proceedings are substantially identical to those of the unborn or unascertained persons.

(4) At any point in a proceeding, a court may appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the interest of a minor, an incapacitated, unborn, or unascertained person, or a person whose identity or address is unknown, if the court determines that representation of the interest otherwise would be inadequate. If not precluded by conflict of interests, a guardian ad litem may be appointed to represent several persons or interests. The court shall set out its reasons for appointing a guardian ad litem as a part of the record of the proceeding."

On motion of Senator Hillyard, Robert Garff and Mitt Romney the CEO for the Salt Lake Olympic Committee spoke in Committee of the Whole. Senators Beattie, Hellewell, Montgomery, Hale, and Julander commented. On motion of Senator Julander, the words of Mitt Romney were placed upon the pages of the journal.

MATT ROMNEY CEO, SALT LAKE OLYMPIC COMMITTEE

Thank you. It's an honor to be here with you this morning and I'm not just saying that. It's an honor first of all to be with people who actually got elected to office. I tried that once and didn't get there. But, it's also an honor because I believe that in some respects we share some background. We did not get into what we are doing for the money. I can see you're not getting rich at this, you probably also did not get in for the fame. I noticed that when I went to Hire's over the weekend they gave me the same table they used to give me. We probably also didn't get into it for the power. I know that if I go 30 m.p.h. in Park City in that 20 m.p.h. zone outside the mayor's office I will get ticketed.

So these are things that bring us to this kind of position and it relates to citizenship and country. The beauty of the land that we live around. It relates to things that inspire the heart and draw the passion more than those things that people talk about, money and power and glory and so forth.

Now my guess is that as you think about the Olympic games and the decision to have brought them to Utah, that was a difficult decision. I was not here at the time, I wasn't involved in the debate very often I taught a Sunday School class where occasionally that was brought up by people who came from Utah. And I didn't get too involved in it. I imagine there were some negatives that came to mind. People probably said, "You know if we have the games here it'll bring a lot of people, maybe even permanently." What makes Utah great is the spectacular vistas we have with the mountains and the last thing we need is more homes and more businesses cutting off those vistas.

There were probably some who acknowledged that there were some other concerns about the games. Perhaps it would be difficult financially. Perhaps it would also cause some disruption as we've seen on the interstates that are being built around us. Those kinds of things may have caused some dismay.

There were of course some elements that made it very attractive in your minds. Some perhaps more than others. A chance to modernize infrastructure, to build some sports facilities that would remain as a legacy to Utah's youth. Perhaps also the opportunity to truly ignite passion on the part of the young people, at least in Utah, to become more involved in some of the sports that perhaps have not been on the top of their lists. As they have been in school they've watched teachers. And heaven knows there is no better teacher in many respects than the teacher of sport.

There's also a positive side of growth. In addition to having people fill up the valleys, which is a negative side perhaps, the positive side is that it can lead to more jobs, and better jobs for Utah's citizens. Now my guess is that there is also some speculation that if, "gee if things work right we could make a financial killing on this."

And actually we could really enhance our reputation around the country. Now those last two have come somewhat in question in the last little while. And perhaps as they have some people have rethought, "Gee does it really make sense to have the Olympics here?" And, "Are we going down the right path?" My guess is that the answer to that is not to rethink and to say, "Gee why don't we send the Olympics somewhere else?" Instead say to ourselves, "We have made a commitment to the Olympics, to Utah, for Country to America." To Utah we said we're going to build facilities that your youth are going to want to come and participate in, we're going to unite in the spirit of Utah's youth the spirit of the Olympics and they're going to be excited to be a part of that. We owe that to them. We owe that to Utah. The Country recognized that we made a commitment to this country that we would bring the games, the Winter Olympics, once again for the first time in twenty years that we haven't had Winter Olympics in the United States.

To the athletes and the young people around the country we look to have an opportunity to bring to them the spirit of the Olympics once again. With this we can bring in young people to be involved in sports that have not been in a long time and America needs that. We also made a commitment to the world. There are, I believe, thousands and thousands of young people across the world who when they hear the name "Salt Lake City" they don't think of all the things that we think of. They think of the opportunity to represent themselves, their school, their county, their country in the great Olympic games. And they get a thrill of excitement that runs through their hearts when they hear they name "Salt Lake City". Because they want to be here. They know we got great ice, they know we've got great acrobatic lifts and they know we have the greatest snow on Earth.

We have made a commitment to Utah, to America and to the World. And I intend to do everything on my part to make sure we fulfill that commitment. Now,

I chatted with my wife about this as we were thinking about it. She said you know it's a little like adopting a child. I said, "Well now how do you stretch that far?" She said, "Well if you haven't been able to have children you think you think, I'm going to adopt a child and it's going to be just delightful, sweetness and life. You think about all those wonderful times you'll have together having popcorn by the fire. Then you actually go through with the event and you find out that it's a little more pluses and negatives than you imagined, a little more difficult. The financial burden a little greater the disruption a little more significant than you imagined. But as you start living it and your going through it, and perhaps even when it's all over and your looking back you say," That is what makes life worth living."

We've made a commitment. We thought it perhaps was going to be sweetness and light when we got into it. We are finding there are some ups and downs and it's difficult. But, it is not time to reevaluate it is time to say we have made a commitment we will follow through. And we will have the joy of having these great games in our home state.

Now, I've learned a little bit about the states that have had Olympics before. The people of Atlanta were very concerned about the disruption, many of them escaped the city to get away from this terrible onslaught that was going to come. Calgary concerned as well. After the games were over, have you read the letters to the editor in the Atlanta papers? The people said it was the greatest experience imaginable, I wish you wouldn't have scared us away from them. People in Calgary, I understand, that over 90% said after the games were over, "We loved the games and would love to do it again." These games are, I am absolutely convinced, will be a spectacular experience for the people of Utah, the people of America and of the world.

Now when I got going in this I was asked by member s of the selection committee what my objectives were. And I said I wanted to divide that into two piles. My objective would be, both the absolute and the goals. The absolutes, number one, to run the games and the preparation for the games on the highest standard of ethical conduct. We put in place an ethical conduct commission we will expand that. I want to draft a code of ethics that all the members of the Olympic staff will sign to make sure that we abide by those high standards. I would expect members of the board and members of our staff who have in any way cast a shadow upon the games, I expect them to stand aside.

Second absolute, we will spend only what we earn. It is unacceptable for us to spend more money than we will take in. And I'm going to work to put together a group of ambassadors to help me and others to raise money for the games, bring out more sponsors. I'm convinced by the way, that when this is all said and done, sponsors will stand in line to be part of these Olympics. The first chance in twenty years to have your name as a corporation associated with youth. This management issue we've had, those of us who've been responsible for running thing, that's not what people come to the games for. They come for the occasion to be associated with youth and to support the youth of America and the World. And I'm also going to count on Utah businesses to lead the way in this regard. If you own a Utah business expect a call. I'm going to be expecting money, big time. From all of those who run Utah businesses so that we can lead the way in showing that we care about these Olympic games.

Now, mostly we need to put together, and I've already begun this morning, to put together contingency budgets. What happens if we don't raise as much money as we thought? Let's put together budgets to make sure that we don't spend more than we take in. No short fall is acceptable.

Now the other absolutes. We have to preserve Utah's environment. It is our heritage for our children. We have to make sure that Utah's share fully in the experience of the games, not just the agony of the construction delays, but the thrill of the games themselves. And our youth have to participate in the Olympic spirit as well.

What are my goals? Put on the best Olympic games in Olympic Winter history. Treat athletes to the greatest snow on Earth. And to share the spirit of the American West, and of Utah with the world. I'm not looking for opening ceremonies that look just like another Hollywood minute. I'd like to have opening ceremonies, and I don't know what they look like if you have any ideas please let me know. But I'd like to have opening ceremonies that say, "boy that was a different feeling, there's something unusual about these games. This is a different place, this is a beautiful place. Great people, great history, great spirit, this is what Utah is." I want people to understand that this is the crossroads of the greatest nation on Earth.

Well what brought me to it? Perhaps you've guessed by now, it's not for the money, it's not for the fame, it's not for the power, it's not to get elected because I haven't ever been able to figure out how to do that. It is instead, I have a passion for these games, and for youth. I am absolutely convinced that the Olympic movement and the Olympics themselves are one of the few, perhaps the only, great event on the world's stage which is a symbol for peace. They are important, they may have their ups and downs, they have a powerful mission to fulfill.

Number two, They are one of the few places on Earth today where heroes are created and seen by our kinds and heaven knows we need more heroes. And I became concerned that the Olympics that the Olympics was getting somehow off track. That somehow we were spending more time talking about the guys that managed the game, old guys like me. The people who hold the stop watches and clean the equipment after the event. We are spending more time talking about them than the youth who aspire to be in the games. I am convinced that I perhaps might play a roll in helping to get the spotlight of off guys like us and back on to the athletes. And I know I will have finally got the job done right when the headlines are just as great on the front page when Michelle Kwan does a spectacular performance like she did last night. And Michael White shows the power and vigor of America's youth. That is the heart of the Olympics. These are heroes, that's what we're about. I can't promise you a rose garden, that everything will go perfect. I can promise you that I will give my all. I will do what ever I can to make you proud. I will be open with you and honest with you. I expect you to be the same with me. Together I believe we can make it work.

Thank you for the opportunity to be with you today, I honor you. And I hope we can do this job well together, thanks.

Sub. S.B. 98, as amended, was transmitted to the House. On motion of Senator Steele, the following intent language was placed upon the pages of the journal.

INTENT LANGUAGE FOR SUB. S.B. 98

The Division of Child and Family Services did not utilize the “without merit” category in its regional reviews from October 1, 1997 until May 3, 1999, the effective date of 1999 Substitute S.B. 98. Therefore it is the purpose and intent of the legislature that with regard to persons who requested an administrative hearing from the division after October 1, 1997 but before May 3, 1999, whose record was amended from “substantiated” to “unsubstantiated,” be further notified by the division. Those persons may request the division to administratively review their record at the regional level to determine whether the funding of “unsubstantiated” should be changed to “without merit.” Those notices shall be sent out by December 31, 1999.

That regional administrative review shall include only a review of the case file and records, and does not require or contemplate any type of evidentially hearing.

With regard to persons whose records are changed from “unsubstantiated” to “without merit” as a result of a regional review conducted pursuant to the provision, the determination of “without merit” as a result of a regional review conducted pursuant to this provision, the determination of “without merit” shall be removed from the system in accordance with the requirements and limitations described in Subsection 62A-4a-116(2)(d), as amended by 1999 Substitute S.B. 98.
